CHECK IT OUT—CHECK IT OFF By Jan Lehman

Getting more organized gives you the advantage, personally and professionally.

Learn why. Learn how.

First, WHY be organized? At work and at home it puts money in your pocket and maximizes time in your day. With a few simple changes you'll immediately experience less stress, more energy and well-being, and daily productivity. Sound good? Are you willing to try it? Okay then, learn more about WHY and HOW below.

Begin by "checking off" (and acknowledging) what gets to you:

 \cdot Does seeing and working at a cluttered desk or kitchen counter add anxiety to your daily life?

• Do you waste money buying duplicate items because you can't remember where you put things last time? Is money wasted on late fees? Have you lost opportunity and income due to a name or lead that got lost?

- Do you know, typically, 80% of what you file is never used? Do you have files that have accumulated unused papers for years, taking up valuable space?
- Have you paid people to move office or home "stuff" you never even use because you don't have time to sort through it?
- Do you feel you are as productive as you can be in your office? Can you find anything you need in your office in 10 seconds or less? Or instead, are you frustrated (maybe even embarrassed) because you waste valuable time looking?
- Are your family members or office staff self-sufficient and confident that they can find things without your input?
- Are you able to model a more organized lifestyle to teach your children important life skills?

Got your attention? Are you convinced now that getting more organized may be worth working on? Many people are frustrated about their disorganized spaces, but don't take the time to solve the problem. Some people don't think it's possible in their "reality," and others just ignore it because they don't know where to begin, but unfortunately it doesn't go away. It's not at all unusual for it to be difficult to see a new way of organizing a space, whether at work or home. However, the good news is that the organizational techniques and solutions can be quite simple.

The benefits are exciting. By choosing to make a few simple changes in the way your home or office is organized you can save many minutes (and money) in your day, provide a more professional image to clients and colleagues as you increase productivity, and reduce your frustration or embarrassment when your daily energy is spent more efficiently and wisely.

Here are a few techniques that will help organize and simplify your life:

• Remove unnecessary items from your main work areas like your kitchen counter or desk.

 \cdot For daily/weekly activities set up stations that ensure all necessary materials/equipment are within reach and require minimal running around.

 \cdot Have a place for everything and make sure everyone in the home or office knows exactly where that is. Label it so there are no excuses.

· Create a system for tracking your tasks and client follow-ups that you can trust and depend on, just like you trust your calendar.

- Be sure to have a waste basket, recycle bin and shredder within arm's reach from where you process your incoming papers.
- · Create a place for storing items that are "undecided."
- Create and enforce the use of "Action" and "Reference" file areas to keep the excess paper from taking over your desktop.
- Put self-purging filing systems in place so you don't accumulate excess paperwork over time.
- Leverage your calendar for tracking when bills are due so you don't have to keep them in eyesight. Or better yet, use online bill pay to schedule the payments and be done with it.

• Create a "To Go" area that is used for holding items that need to leave the house (i.e. movies to return, borrowed items). It should be near the door and away from your main working/living area to reduce the piles that accumulate there. Train yourself, and others, to put anything there that needs to go and be sure to check that spot religiously when you walk out the door.

- Don't buy containers before you first understand how you work and what your specific storage needs are. Cute containers won't automatically solve storage or organizational problems.
- Clear your desk and review your calendar at the end of each day. You will sleep more soundly knowing, tomorrow, you will remember what needs to be done. This helps you be confident you are on top of things and prevents laying awake making lists in your head.
- At least once a year, do a major clean-out of your office/files to ensure the outdated stuff isn't taking up valuable space. Cluttered files make you feel more overwhelmed then you need to be.
- Ask a good friend to help you de-clutter. Then set a date to do it for him/her. It's called "shadowing" and sometimes it's all you need. It makes the activity more social and you will find yourselves learning from each other. Double the progress and double the fun!

Now that you have hope of being more organized and productive, enjoy thinking about what you will do with your extra free time. Work out? Read a book? Whatever ... here's to a more organized you in 2011!

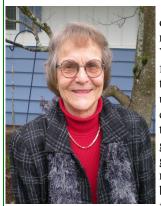

Cherie Gregory is VP of Sales & Marketing with Net Visibility Group, Inc. Cherie started coming to Greeters in 2004 after she was transferred to Eugene with a local yellow pages print advertising company from Portland, and was looking to meet new people and create new business contacts. She moved from Florida to the Northwest in 1991, following her family and her work. Cherie was born "Cherissa Dawn Gregory" in Mattoon, IL. She has 5 sisters (3 living) and 1 brother. Cherie spent most of her childhood years in Alabama and only returned to Illinois in 1983 to attend college at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston, IL. Cherie is mother to 3 sons. Cherie has been in Sales, Marketing and Advertising since 1984. Having come from a background in advertising and marketing, she and others bought into a local Search Engine Optimization (SEO) company and after a company restructure Net Visibility Group, Inc. was established. They work with local businesses across the United States via SEO, with a focus on Local Search, Website Design, Internet marketing, social media and mobile search. Their goal is to help businesses obtain Search Engine rankings and traffic by appearing on the first page of Google, Yahoo! & Bing.

Cherie enjoys reading, scuba diving, golfing, wine, and dirty martinis. She enjoys spending time with family and friends. She is very active in our community, belonging not only to Eugene Greeters, but also Women's Business Network, Springfield Greeters, and Better Business Referrals. Cherie continues to come to Greeters because she enjoys learning about other businesses, creating friendships and supporting businesses within the local community. She credits the success of Net Visibility Group to the great staff within the company, the company's motto of always "under promising and over performing", never promising 1st position, only working with 2 businesses in the same industry, community involvement, networking, and relationship building. We can all help Cherie with an understanding of what Net Visibility Group does by taking a couple minutes to sit down with Cherie. Net Visibility Group, Inc is located at 1450 W 7th Ave here in Eugene. And of course, referrals are always welcomed.

Beverly Wilger of Melaleuca, The Wellness Company, has been coming to Greeters for over 5 years. Born and raised in Athens, Wisconsin, she married Fran Wilger in 1955. That makes 55 years! They honeymooned to Tacoma, Washington then moved to the Willamette Valley in 1960. Beverly balanced raising 6 daughters, working as an Educational Assistant for the Bethel School District and volunteering at St Mark Catholic Church. She retired from the School District in 2000 with much to do. A personal experience launched Beverly in an unexpected career in 2000. She had an emergency surgery - appendectomy, after which she encountered severe "thrush" or yeast infection in her mouth as a side effect of the medications. This is when she received a call from Barbara Rae who listened to her story and suggested gargling with "tea tree" or Melaleuca Oil. It took a mere 4 hours and the thrush was gone. Beverly excitedly contacted Barbara to share her unbelievable results and find out more about Melaleuca. She was attracted to the multi-line of more than over 300 products because they were more natural and provided her with safe, non-caustic, environmentally friendly, cost effective, 100% guaranteed, delivered to your door replacements for every household product and need in her home. Though her intentions were not to build a business, by sharing with her friends about her experience and having transformed her home to all Melaleuca products, there was no way around it.

Beverly and Fran have 3 granddaughters and 8 grandsons! She enjoys spending time with her family, continues to volunteer at the church, and thrives on educating herself on the latest information affecting health, wellness, disease, FDA, and bills in Congress affecting our health as it comes by way of, the mail, the Internet, and conferences to help others and to enhance her business. Attending Greeters provides another way for her to share this information with as many folks as possible, including the advantages of using Melaleuca products. Beverly continues to participate in Greeters because of the friends and relationships she has created. Additionally, she enjoys learning about other businesses and resources in our community. We can all help Beverly, and ourselves, by giving her the opportunity to show how Melaleuca products can benefit us and our families. Take a couple of moments, sit down with Beverly, hear some testimonials, see the array of products and services available and soon you will understand her passion for a healthier lifestyle for herself and others.

TAX TALK By Dick Maxwell

The recently enacted "Tax Relief, Unemployment Insurance Reauthorization, and Job Creation Act of 2010" is a sweeping tax package that includes, among many other items, an extension of the Bush-era tax cuts for two years, estate tax relief, a two-year "patch" of the alternative minimum tax (AMT), a two-percentage-point cut in employee-paid payroll taxes and in selfemployment tax for 2011, new incentives to invest in machinery and equipment, and a host of retroactively resuscitated and extended tax breaks for individuals and businesses. Here's a look at the key elements of the package:

• The current income tax rates will be retained for two years (2011 and 2012), with a top rate of 35% on ordinary income and 15% on qualified dividends and long-term capital gains.

• Employees and self-employed workers will receive a reduction of two percentage points in Social Security tax in 2011, bringing the rate down from 6.2% to 4.2% for employees, and from 12.4% to 10.4% for the self-employed.

• A two-year AMT "patch" for 2010 and 2011 provides a modest increase in AMT exemption amounts and allows personal nonrefundable credits to offset AMT as well as regular tax. Without the patch, an estimated 21 million additional taxpayers would have owed AMT for 2010.

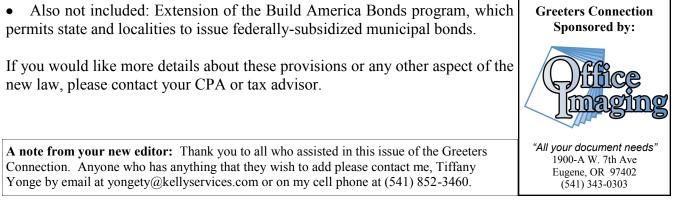

• Key tax credits for working families that were enacted or expanded in the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 will be retained. Specifically, the new law extends the $1,000 child tax credit and maintains its expanded refundability for two years, extends rules expanding the earned income credit for larger families and married couples, and extends the higher education tax credit (the American Opportunity tax credit) and its partial refundability for two years.

• Businesses can write off 100% of their new equipment and machinery purchases, effective for property placed in service after September 8, 2010 and through December 31, 2011. For property placed in service in 2012, the new law provides for 50% additional first-year depreciation.

• Many of the "traditional" tax extenders are extended for two years, retroactively to 2010 and through the end of 2011. Among many others, the extended provisions include the election to take an itemized deduction for state and local general sales taxes in lieu of the itemized deduction for state and local income taxes; the $250 above-the-line deduction for certain expenses of elementary and secondary school teachers; and the research credit.

• After a one-year hiatus, the estate tax will be reinstated for 2011 and 2012, with a top rate of 35%. The exemption amount will be $5 million per individual in 2011 and will be indexed to inflation in following years. Estates of people who died in 2010 can choose to follow either 2010's or 2011's rules.

• Omitted from the new law: Repeal of a controversial expansion of Form 1099 reporting requirements.
